TEAM NOTES

The Avalanche and Kings played the fourth of eight contests this season, and Colorado is now 4-1-0 against Los Angeles. The Avs also improved to 4-1-1 on their current nine-game homestand and has won three consecutive games.

The Avalanche’s 20 shots in the opening frame equaled its most shots in a period this season (also: Feb. 27 at Arizona, 2nd; Jan. 28 vs. San Jose, 3rd).

Colorado outshot the Kings 41-28 and has a shot differential of +94 over its last four outings, outshooting its opponents by a combined 168-74. The Avs have outshot their opponent in 13 straight contests and are 13-6-1 when putting more pucks on net this campaign. Colorado’s 13 wins when outshooting their opponent this season is the most in the NHL.

The Avs went 5-for-5 on the penalty kill, matching its most penalty kills in a game this season (also: Jan. 26 vs. San Jose and Jan. 22 at Anaheim). Colorado is 69-for-79 (87.3%) this season, the second-ranked penalty kill in the league (Boston, 89.4%).

INDIVIDUAL NOTES

Philipp Grubauer recorded his 15th win of the season and his 51st as a member of the Avalanche, moving him into a tie with Craig Anderson for ninth place in franchise history. Grubauer also established a new career best shutout streak, going 132:24 without allowing a goal. He ranks second in the NHL in wins and sixth in goals-against average (1.91) among netminders who have played more than one game.

Dan Renouf notched two points (2a), the first multi-point game of his career.

Andre Burakovksy recorded his first game-winning goal of the season and the 20th game winner of his career.

Logan O’Connor recorded a game-high five shots on net, a new career best for the forward.

Nazem Kadri registered two points (1g/1a), his sixth multi-point game of the season.
